COMMUNAL RIOTING ARABS AND JEWS CLASH

Serious Position In Palestine

STATE OF ALARM DECLARED

Jerusalem, To-day.

A serious situation has developed in Jerusalem, where clashes between Arabs and Jews necessitated police baton charges. It is reported that some shots were fired, resulting in several deaths. The military were called in.

According to Jewish sources three Jews were killed and a score injured at Jaffa. It is rumoured that there were several fatalities among the Arabs.

Jewish business men of Jaffa are trying to escape to Tel Aviv. The telephone lines to Jaffa are in the hands of the Government and all transport to Jaffa and Haifa has ceased. The Government reports that the situation is well in hand and the military are standing by, but so far there has been no occasion to call on them.

CLASHES AT HAIFA

Paris: It is reported from Cairo that four Jews and two Arabs have been killed in clashes at Haifa, where a British officer was seriously injured. A state of alarm has been declared throughout Palestine.

NINE KILLED

Jerusalem: Jewish sources now report that nine people have been killed in the disturbances and 39 injured, of whom 11 are seriously hurt. A curfew was enforced at Jaffa and Tel Aviv at 7 p.m. All is now quiet in both towns.

TENSE SITUATION

Jerusalem: There is a tense situation at Jaffa, following a clash between Arabs and Jews on the occasion of the funeral of two Arabs, murdered allegedly in revenge for the murder of a Jew, though the police believe that it was the result of an Arab feud. The police made baton charges and restored order after several people had been reported killed and all shops closed. Steel-helmeted police armed with rifles are patrolling the streets.

BRITISH FAMILY STONED

Jerusalem: An Order-in-Council has been published empowering the High Commissioner to implement emergency regulations. A British engineer and his wife and child were stoned at Jaffa. All three were slightly injured.—Reuter.

SMUGGLING INTO CHINA

Enormous Figures Quoted

Shanghai, To-day. More than $310,000,000 worth of goods have been smuggled into China in the 15 months ended on March 31, according to an investigation by a prominent Chinese news agency. This includes $100,000,000 worth of the first three months of 1936.—Reuter.

DEFENCE APPROPRIATIONS IN GREECE

Athens, To-day. — The Greek Government has decided to spend another 6.2 milliards on defences, this programme to be spread over four years.—Trans-Ocean Service.

Submerged to a depth of 18 feet and with more than 50 persons reported dead, this is an air view of the flood-stricken city of Johnstown, Pa., last month. Note the rising waters in the street.

CHINA'S SOCCER HOPES LEE WAI-TONG DEPLORES LACK OF INSIDE FORWARDS

In an exclusive interview with the China Mail this morning, Lee Wai-tong, the probable captain of the All-China Association football to take part in the Berlin Olympic Games, said that he deplored the lack of inside forwards, especially among the reserves, as there were more wingers in the complement than there were inside-men.

MR. W. HUGHES INVOLVED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Head-on Collision Forces Vehicle Over Embankment

Sydney, To-day.

Mr. William Hughes, the wartime Prime Minister, motoring with his wife, Dame Mary Hughes, was involved in a head-on collision near Albany, yesterday. Mr. Hughes was jammed behind the wheel and was unable to steer the car, which went over an embankment. Both escaped with slight injuries and shock.—Reuter.

CHINA FLEET MOVEMENTS

Warships Leaving For North

SUMMER CRUISE

Within the next few days the harbour will almost be bare of warships as the majority of the China Fleet will be leaving tomorrow for Shanghai, Wei-hai-wei and Japanese ports.

H.M.S. Kent, flying the flag of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, Vice-Admiral Sir Charles J. Little, K.C.B., will leave for Amoy tomorrow, where His Excellency will probably transfer his flag to the Falmouth. The C-in-C. will visit several Chinese ports before arriving at the summer training station, Wei-hai-wei, on May 27.

With the exception of H.M.S. Grimsby, which will be in port until May 20, and several destroyers for piracy patrol, the majority of the Fleet will be away until October or November.

The following is a complete programme of the Fleet movements.

GERMAN MINISTER LOST IN SANDSTORM

Egyptian Government Institutes Search With Planes

Cairo, To-day.

The German Minister, Baron von Stohrer, has been lost in a sandstorm while accompanying the competitors in the Royal Automobile Club's annual race from Bahariya to the Western Desert. The Government has instituted a search, assisted by Air Force planes.—Reuter.

NEW JAPANESE AMBASSADOR

Objections To Proposed Candidate

OPPOSITION FROM OFFICIAL CANTON CIRCLES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, To-day.

Because he made an unlawful arrest of a Korean in Canton, Mr. Shigeru Kawagoe, prospective Japanese Ambassador to China, is deemed non persona grata in the opinion of official circles here. Mr. Kawagoe was formerly Consul-General in Canton.

The Korean was naturalised as a Chinese citizen and was engaged in selling medicine. Mr. Kawagoe forcibly took him to his consulate in Shamen on suspicion that he was engaged in anti-Japanese activities. Through the good offices of the French Consular authorities the prisoner was eventually released.

Cultural and publishing circles in Shanghai also oppose the appointment of Mr. Kawagoe, as he was instrumental in bringing about the conviction of the editor of the "New Life Weekly" for having published an article deriding the Japanese Emperor.

Well-informed circles here believe that should Mr. Kawagoe be appointed Ambassador to China, Sino-Japanese relations will become more difficult. Considerable interest is aroused here as to whether the Nanking Government will accept Mr. Kawagoe as successor to Mr. Hachiro Arita, now Japanese Foreign Minister.

ALL THE ITALIAN RESERVES THROWN INTO BATTLE

EPIC LIBYAN ADVANCE IN FACE OF WITHERING MACHINE-GUN FIRE

COMPLETE TRIUMPH IN POURING RAIN

London, To-day.

A graphic account of the battle of Gorrahwadi is given by Reuter's special correspondent with the southern forces. He states that the Italians lost 10 white officers and 600 Libyan and Somali troops.

The forces of Abbedamtu numbered 10,000 armed with modern weapons and a large number of machine-guns. Entrenched in a narrow gorge, Gorrahwadi used caves and sheer cliffs as machine-gun nests.

A battalion of Libyans, flanked by irregulars and Somalis, and supported by tanks and field artillery, charged the gorge on April 15 in pouring rain. They reached a tributary of the Gorrahwadi at nightfall and, reinforced by three Libyan regiments, again advanced in the morning and met the full blast of the Ethiopian machine-guns posted in front of caverns.

The charges and counter-charges and desperate hand-to-hand fighting continued for hours. No quarter was given or asked. The Ethiopians at midnight daringly attempted to encircle the Italian line but were repulsed.

Then at dawn a detachment of Debats started a flanking movement, but were trapped and wiped out by Ethiopian machine-gun units.

Meanwhile three Libyan regiments engaged the Ethiopians, who furiously attacked the Italian left flank. The Italian General Nasi threw in all his reserves and the Ethiopians, disheartened by the death of their leader, retreated and fled.

LAST STAND BY ETHIOPIANS

Italians 80 Miles From Capital

WARRIORS WILL FIGHT TO THE END

Addis Ababa, To-day.

With the invaders reported to be only 80 miles from the capital, the Ethiopians are preparing to make a last desperate stand to defend the city. The patriotism of the citizens remains undaunted. Yesterday a great crowd assembled at the race course to hear a proclamation ordering every able-bodied male to collect arms, ammunition and food and be ready to take marching orders under penalty of flogging and a fine.

Five thousand people declared their intention of fighting to the death. The luckiest among them were waving rifles, but many were flourishing swords, spears and staves.

With the intention of treating the capital as an open town and thus avoiding Italian bombing, the Abyssinians, together with further recruits, are hurrying from the western provinces and will join the Emperor and Crown Prince in a final stand in the mountains south of Dessie.

Though the Emperor's whereabouts are still unknown he is declared to be determined to fight to the end and is still accompanied by the most important section of his army.

TWO COLUMNS

From Dessie the Italians are apparently moving in two columns, one making towards Awash on the railway. The other is already near Akober, approaching the mountains in Northern Shoa, where he will harass the long line of Italian communications, occasioned by their rapid advance.—Reuter.

Even should the Italians occupy Addis Ababa it is believed that the Emperor will retreat to the mountains still further west, from where he will harass the long line of Italian communications, occasioned by their rapid advance.—Reuter.

ROME: The official account of the battle on the southern front between General Nasi's Libyan division and the forces of Abbedamtu says that several thousands of Ethiopians, including some important chiefs, were killed. The Italians lost 10 officers killed and wounded, and three airmen wounded. Two planes came down in their own lines, and there were several hundred casualties among other ranks. Two and a half days' fierce fighting resulted in the complete defeat of the enemy.

OFFENSIVE CONFIRMED
Rome: The opening of the Italian offensive against Harar is confirmed in a communique from Marshal Badoglio, which states that on the Somali front the Italian troops under the command of General Graziani began an offensive movement at dawn on April 14. A battle followed on the left wing of the Italian front.

TROOPS FOR E. AFRICA
Naples: Six troopships left for East Africa on Saturday, carrying 173 officers and nearly 5,000 men.—Reuter.

NEW ITALIAN PROTEST

Staff Officer Hit By Dum-Dum Bullet

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Rome, To-day.

The report from General Graziani, that Lieutenant-Colonel Liberatori has been seriously wounded by an Abyssinian dum-dum bullet, has provoked a sharp protest to the League Secretary by Italy, the Italian telegram stating that Italy reserves the right to submit a document proving Abyssinian atrocities.

Italy desires that the attention of all League members be drawn to this fact in order that it might be evident that the Abyssinian troops are breaking all rules of humanitarian warfare.—Trans-Ocean Service.

GOVERNOR ENTERTAINED

His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, was the official guest of honour at a luncheon party at the Sports Club to-day. Forty-six persons, 15 of whom were visitors, were in attendance.

Detained under an armed guard by Venezuelan authorities, Talcott Powell, above, an American writer, and a party of friends who sailed to search for the ancient site of the first Spanish settlement in America, were held at Palamar, Venezuela. Dispatches indicated that the papers of their schooner were not in order.

AUTONOMY IN FUKIEN

Important Military Conference

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES TO BE TAKEN

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, To-day. Ways and means to deal with the "autonomists" in Southern Fukien are to be discussed to-day at an important military conference at Changchow, Southern Fukien.

General Chang Fa-kuei, Commander-in-Chief of Nanking troops in Fukien, Chekiang, Kiangsi and Anhui, will preside over this meeting. General Chiang Ting-wen, in command of the Nanking forces in Fukien, and General Chen Yi, Chairman of the Fukien Provincial Government, arrived at Changchow last evening to take part in the military parley.

The agenda includes (1) strengthening the military defence of Southern Fukien, (2) mopping up the Communists, and (3) precautionary measures to prevent a declaration of independence by the autonomists. The convocation of this conference was ordered by the Central authorities, who are anxious to prevent untoward happenings in Fukien.

The headquarters of the bogus autonomists is located in Kiangsu, a residential suburb opposite Amoy. Some of the Chinese adherents are former officers under Li Hou-chi, one-time Fukien war-lord.

MASCULINE TREND DISAPPEARS

Feminine Frills Return

THE NEW SPRING MODES

Right in the midst of all the current talk about the strict tailor and the mannish mode, Nicole de Paris, long famous for her hats and, more recently, for handsome dresses, comes forth with a spring collection of the most delectably feminine clothes imaginable.

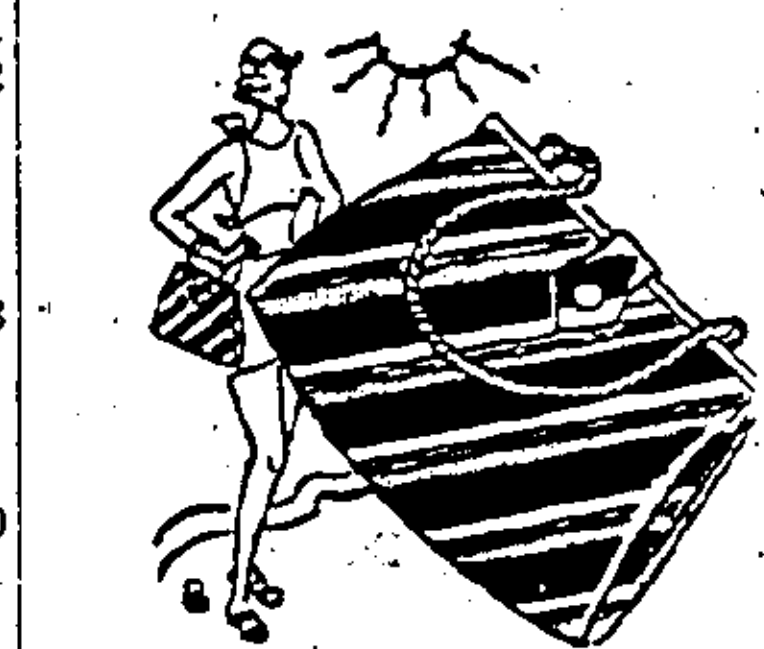

Madame Nicole shows tailored suits, to be sure, but they are fashioned from suave, rather stiff taffeta-like fabrics and are teamed up with blouses and jabots as frilly and soft as a southern belle's dance dresses. One typical Nicole suit is especially flattering and spring-like.

Scallops Edge Skirt Closing. It includes a straight, trim skirt which fastens on the side and is finished with scallops along the closing, and a nipped-in-at-the-waist jacket with pointed lapels and rather tight sleeves. The white mouseline blouse has a pleated jabot that falls outside the jacket. It is topped with a wide-brimmed Breton.

The evening gowns in the Nicole collection are as untailored as clothes possibly can be. Chiffons, nets and mouselines are stressed. Most of them, apparently designed to arouse every protective instinct your partner has, float and billow about your feet, but mould your figure from the knees upward. Halter bodices—demure across the front and all-revealing at the back—are featured.

Lingerie Touches

The bodice of a white chiffon creation ties in a bow at the back of the neck and has soft fullness massed at the back. The full-length cape to match contains thirty-five yards of white chiffon which fall gracefully from a yoke concealed by three rows of white camellias.

VIA SIBERIA—Letters and postcards for Europe and South America are forwarded "via Siberia" if so superscribed.

REGISTERED and PARCEL MAILS are closed 15 minutes earlier than the time given above unless otherwise stated, and where mails are advertised to close at or before 9 a.m., registered and parcel mails are closed at 5 p.m. on the previous day.

AIR MAIL—Imperial Airways via Singapore, Bandoeng-Amsterdam via Singapore, Saigon-Marseilles via Saigon. Correspondence for Europe and for transmission by these services. Rates and all particulars are shown in the schedules exhibited at the General Post Office and Kowloon Office.

All letters etc. must be marked "By Air Mail" and handed in at the General Post Office. Unless superscribed for despatch by a specific air mail service, correspondence will be forwarded by the first service available.

The Beauty Budget

All-Purpose Perfume Cuts Cost

POPULAR WITH ALL THE GIRLS

New beauty aids that merit attention are a boon indeed to the girl who insists upon a balanced budget.

For instance, a new perfume, reasonable in price, does away with the problems about what is good for daytime, which for evening and how to find something which suits your particular type. It is good any time of day or night and can be used by blondes, redheads and brunettes, whether plump, thin, tall or short. If you invest in a bottle of this, you can cross perfume off your shopping list until the bottle is empty.

Then there's magical cosmetic kit, containing every item needed for a complete makeup and, retailing for a comparatively small sum. Included in it are face powder, cream rouge, lipstick, eyeshadow, eyebrow pencil, finishing lotion, skin tonic and a foundation cream. Incidentally, the foundation cream is the featured item. Easy to spread on the skin, this forms a perfect base for rouge and powder and gives the complexion a smooth, velvet effect.

Naturally, the kits are specially packed to meet individual colour requirements of every woman. Simply ask the salesman for one which will suit exactly your complexion and colouring.

Unusual effectiveness is gained in this white pleated chiffon gown through the shoulder trimment. A silver belt with jewelled ornaments around the waist of lovely Madge Evans, the screen actress, adds interest.

LIPSTICKS ARE BRIGHTER SUBTLE EASTERN SHADES

HOW TO APPLY THEM

Lipstick shades are brighter this spring. A few cosmetics are featuring subtle East Indian shades with orange lights, but the majority show only blood red tones that give you a healthy, vivacious look.

Remember that any lipstick will stay on for hours if you apply it correctly. Dry your lips, smooth it on, let it set, then wipe off the surplus. Don't moisten your lips until the colour has had a chance to dry and set.

However, if you are one who likes a shiny effect and aren't particularly interested in having the lipstick stay on for half a day, dry your lips, apply the colour and don't rub any of it off. Moisturize immediately.

Naturally, lipstick should be applied from corner to corner and just along the inside edges of your lips. Don't smear it beyond

To Mend Fine Linens

MOST SUITABLE METHODS

In many homes a beautiful tablecloth, scarf or some dainty garment may be laid aside because a hole has been discovered, and we feel unequal to the patching that would make these articles useful again.

Whether the offending hole has been torn, burned or is the result of wear, there are a number of ways to apply a patch which will never advertise the fact that it covers a hole. Expert needlewomen use several methods, each of which, properly applied, results in a patch which makes it possible to use these articles for the finest occasions rather than discarding them, or feeling one must use them for every day.

Perhaps the method most suitable for plain fabrics, and which insures strength as well, is applied by cutting a square around the hole, cutting this large enough to eliminate all weak threads. Sides of the square should be exactly even so that the threads, both ways of the weave, are parallel to the edges of the hole.

Matching Material. Next cut the patch of matching material on exact threads and several inches larger than the hole to be mended. Then fringe the patching material on all sides until the centre is just the size of the hole to be patched. Place the patch in position. It is now ready to be woven in place. Thread each thread of the fringed edges into a fine needle, one at a time, working well out into the material to hold the patch securely. You will be delighted with the result!

Hemstitched patch insets make a distinctive patch. This type really seems to be an ornament rather than a darn. To do this, pull threads on four sides, as for ordinary hemstitching, and well away from the edges of the damaged place, making the outline square or oblong as desired. Cut a patch of the same shape slightly larger than the inside outline, of the pulled threads. Turn edges under to fit and baste in place. Then proceed as in hemstitching.

BRIDGE NOTES

Imagination Is Vital

By Ely Culbertson

It is my aim, in these daily articles, to devote approximately equal space to the technique and to the psychology of contract bridge. Actually, the importance of either can be stressed only at the expense of the other. No player can hope to become expert unless thoroughly versed in both. If bridge were played double-dummy, the technician would be king, but fortunately this is not the case. And so we have the vast accumulation of deduction, reasoning, implication, and so on, that for want of a better term is known as the "psychology" of the game.

Mathematical precision is a quality greatly to be admired, and possessors of this quality usually manage to reach the front ranks in whatever science or profession they may choose. But in front of the front ranks are those gifted individuals who "stand out" even in exalted company, and these we reverently regard as geniuses. And, certainly, if one single quality should be credited for so distinguishing them, that quality is imagination.

Nowhere is imagination more consistently rewarded than in bridge. On countless hands, the proper defensive play from a technical angle will serve only to make the declarer's problem more easily solved. Imagination steps in and saves the day.

Of course, imagination is not the prerogative of the defenders alone. In the hand shown below, the declarer used it to save a lost cause.

North, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

West opened the six of spades. The declarer saw at a glance that in addition to his three sure spade and club tricks, three tricks in diamonds would be necessary to fulfill his contract. But he also saw that to clear the diamonds, he must relinquish the lead at least once, and with dummy's three small hearts exposed, it appeared certain that the defenders would shift to that suit, in which case at least four hearts and a diamond must be lost.

He decided that a "swindle" was his best line of play. So he won the first lead with North's king and boldly led the heart eight.

East was somewhat "on the spot." Against certain possible heart holdings by South, he should split his honours—against others decidedly not. He ducked, and South played the jack. West won with the ace and led another spade. South's queen won, and a diamond was led. North playing the jack and East winning with the king. At this point, East was faced with another guess. It was impossible to gauge the declarer's heart and club holding, and in view of West's failure to show a five card spade suit [by his first lead of the six and his second of the eight] a club shift looked most propitious.

Declarer won the club in his own hand, and when the second diamond finesse held, claimed nine tricks.

BANK CASHIER'S
WILL

"If My Wife Wishes To Remarry"

Mr. John William Nicholls, of Bella Vista, Lansdown, Bath, bank cashier, who died in January leaving £7,987, left all his property to his wife, saying: "I wish to put on record that should she desire to remarry I am happy to know that she will be able to fill the role of wife and companion to another as well as she has been a comfort to me."

Winifred Shaw, Phil Regan and Mort Dixon are featured in the Warner Bros. production, "Broadway Hostess," which is now being shown at the Queen's Theatre.

Cinema Notes

"ROSE MARIE"—KING'S AND
ALHAMBRA THEATRES

This musical classic features Jeannette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in the principal parts and the singing of these two makes this picture one of the outstanding productions of the year.

The "Indian Love Call" one of the most beautiful melodic themes ever written and based on an actual Indian strain, was sung in a canyon with unique echo effects that make each note almost a chord. The natural echoes were considered in working out a special orchestration for the song, which is sung by Jeannette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, the co-stars in the picture.

In another number, the sprightly "Pardon Me, Madame," a lighthearted musical flirtation song sung by Miss MacDonald and a male chorus, the number was literally made a one-song musical comedy. Miss MacDonald sings the melody, composed after the French opera-bouffe manner, in a hotel suite.

The stirring "Song of the Mountains," which Nelson Eddy sings, is sung on horseback, with the baritone as a sergeant of mounted police at the head of his column, in a mountain canyon. Nelson Eddy's song, "Rose Marie," "I Love You," is also sung against the panorama of the Sierras.

Aside from the music of the original stage production, two grand opera arias are sung by Miss MacDonald in sequences showing her as an opera star, at the opening and close of the picture. These two were specially adapted by Stothart.

"BROADWAY HOSTESS"—
QUEEN'S THEATRE

The story treats of life on the Great White Way, particularly the night clubs and the palatial gambling halls. It is the story of a little country girl who goes to the big city to make good in theatrical work.

She finds it a tough job to crash Broadway, until she meets a big gambler, who puts her over in a big way and makes her the toast of the bright light district.

Comedy and thrills follow in quick succession until a smashing climax in which the gambler is slain by the brother of the woman he loves.

Winifred Shaw, musical comedy star, has the role of the country girl who sings her way to fame. Phil Regan is her assistant and Lyle Talbot is the gambler. Genevieve Tobin is the society girl Talbot loves.

Miss Shaw, besides playing the leading role, sings three songs by herself and one with Regan, also sings alone. The music and lyrics were specially written for the picture by Wrubel and Dixon.

Two spectacles were created and staged by Bob Connolly, in which scores of beautiful dancers appear.

Others in the cast include Allen Jenkins, Marie Wilson, Spring

TSUI WAI-PUI FAVOURED

ONLY WEAKNESS OVERHEAD RUMJAHN UNLIKELY TO BE FAST ENOUGH TO-DAY'S OPEN SINGLES FINAL

(By "Base-Line")

TSUI WAI-PUI should win the Open Singles Lawn Tennis title of the Colony for the second time in his brief career when he meets H. D. Rumjahn, who has entered the Final Round for the first time, at the H.K.C.C. this afternoon.

Tsui is to-day a 15 better player than he was in 1934, the year of his success. Following his straight sets triumph over Tam Yoc-tong he attempted a new grip and, despite poor results, persevered for a whole season with it. The consequence was that he dropped from No. 1 ranking player to about No. 5 or 6. This year, however, he has reverted back to his original stroking and has staged a remarkable comeback—on his display last Friday he would have fully extended "Buster" Andrews, the New Zealand Davis Cup player.

Tsui's only weakness is overhead, where he is inclined to be over-cautious—this was very noticeable last Friday. His back-hand is his match-winning shot, although he has a very powerful forehand drive, a stroke he seldom exploited against S. A. Rumjahn. Possessing a powerful but erratic first service, he volleys with perfect confidence, while he is very fast on the court as the result of a good sense of anticipation. In short, he has everything a local champion should have.

H. D. Rumjahn, on the other hand, is steadier than brilliant. Unlike his opponent, he is slow on the court, though possessing sound anticipatory powers. There is one thing, however, that "H.D." is noticeably lacking, and that is stamina. He was a very tired player after his match against Lai, and for this reason I cannot see him winning to-day against Tsui's clever drop shots and deep lobbing.

The match is likely to be full of incident as both players are masters of the volley, but I shall be surprised if Tsui drops his first set in the 1936 series.

How They Reached Final
The following shows how they reached the Final:

TSUI WAI-PUI
beat L. M. A. Razack 6-1, 6-2.

beat S. A. Rumjahn (holder) 6-1, 6-1, 7-5.
H. D. RUMJAHN

beat Luk Chun Cheong 6-1, 6-2.
beat R. Choa 6-2, 6-3.
beat Tsui Yan-pui 6-2, 6-2.
beat Lai Kwong-tsun 3-7, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3.

Richardson Fails
The Rest started their innings with the C.S.C.C. opening pair, J. E. Richardson and W. H. Colledge, but the first named was caught in the slips off Robbie Lee with only four runs on the board. Capt. Persse played some very good shots in his innings for 21, but Lt. Garthwaite was painfully slow, his 10 taking something like 27 minutes, and it included a four, an overthrow!

LEE'S LAST GAME IN H. K.

In an exclusive statement to the China Mail after the game against the Association "A" team at Caroline Hill yesterday evening, Lee Wai-tong, above, the probable captain of the All-China World Olympic football team, stated: "You have witnessed my last soccer match in Hong Kong as I am definitely retiring from the game after the World Olympic series and resulting tours of the All-China team in Europe. I am getting on in years and have the welfare of my family to look to in the future."

Many Players Fail To Turn Up!

LEE WAI-TONG AND SUEN ON TOP

GALLANT DISPLAY BY ASSOCIATION TEAM

FOUR MEN PLAY TWICE

(By "REFEREE")

UNDOUBTEDLY the finest exhibition of football seen in the Colony for several years was witnessed at Caroline Hill yesterday, when the All-China "A" Olympic football team trounced the Hong Kong Football Association "A" team by 7 goals to 1, Lee Wai-tong, China's soccer "idol," and Suen Kam-shun, the former Athletic marksman, being in brilliant fettle to secure four and two goals respectively, while Elms had the misfortune to put into his own net, Beltrao securing the losers' only goal, in the first five minutes.

Owing to poor organisation, several of the Association players failed to make an appearance and consequently four players who had already been given 70 minutes of gruelling football took the field again in a gallant, but unavailing attempt to stem the flow of goals from the Chinese. The players who failed to make an appearance were Chris Pile, the left-back and captain of the side, A. S. Bliss, the left-half, T. Pile, the right-winger, and B. Gosano, the inside-right.

The Chinese footballers were certainly at their best and, although the Association team were almost played to a standstill, they gave a magnificent performance and should have netted on several more occasions. Pau Ka-ping and the two backs, Lee Tin-sang and Tam Kong-pak, were well nigh impregnable, Lee's first-time methods beating the opposition every time, while Tam's headwork had the desired effect.

ALL CHINA "B" SOCCER TEAM TRIUMPHANT

ASSOC. "B" LOSE IN HARD GAME

TOO MANY RESERVES

(By "REFEREE")

A deplorable state of affairs existed at Caroline Hill yesterday, when, through bad organisation, the exhibition football game between the All-China "B" World Olympic soccer team and the H.K.F.A. "B" team commenced nearly half an hour after the scheduled time, the Chinese winning a spirited encounter by 5 goals to 4, although a draw would have been a fairer indication of the run of the play.

North and Parker (captain), the original Association wing-halves, Elliott, the leader, and Brooks, inside-left, all failed to make an appearance and consequently reserves were called in, all of whom performed well under the circumstances.

The Chinese team played their usual short-passing game to advantage, the great improvement of K. L. K. on the right-wing, and S. D. Liang, at right-half, being one of the features of the game.

INTENTIONAL HANDLING MUST BE ELIMINATED

The Federation would do well to eliminate intentional handling such as was witnessed yesterday at Caroline Hill. Tso Kwai-shing and Tam Kong-pak being the culprits. The Chinese are good enough to win on their football prowess, and there is no need for bad feeling as the result of this type of "gallery" play. Notable among yesterday's examples was the occasion when Tam robbed Fowler of a certain goal in the closing stages of the "A" match. . . . a repetition of such an incident in Europe might lead to tragic results against a high-spirited Continental team.

Suen Kam-shun and Lee Wai-tong dropped back and worked the ball up between them, in spite of the close attentions of Forrow and Ernie. Strange. Suen was very fast off the mark and his shooting was deadly at all times, while Lee has never been better this season, and very rarely had to point out a weakness or possible loophole in his defence.

TO-DAY'S CHINESE "DERBY"

South China "A" are expected to retain their premier League soccer title this afternoon at Caroline Hill when they meet their "B" team in their last match of the season.

Yeung Shui-yick, above, the South China "B" and All-China World Olympic soccer player, gave an inspired display on the left-wing in yesterday's exhibition game at Caroline Hill.

KOTEWALL CUP

Army Win Trophy From Navy

NO SCORING AFTER INTERVAL

After 90 minutes of thrills and exciting football in the final of the Kotewall Cup at Kowloon yesterday, the Army, the holders, retained the trophy for another year by defeating the Navy by the narrow margin of 2 goals to 1.

From a free kick taken very near the goal by Sandford, Ridings sent the Army ahead. The Navy goal had a narrow squeak a few moments afterwards when Howlett almost netted from a short pass by Ridings. Soon after, however, from an excellently judged pass by Wearmouth, Rose made no mistake with the equaliser.

At times Howlett was apt to run too far upfield, perhaps in the hope of receiving a stray pass. This was not very constructive football, but it achieved its end when Sandford sent the ball forward for Howlett to make no error in direction, the ball sailing to the back of the net to enable the Army to cross over 2-1 in the lead.

Fast but unconstructive football featured the second half, which failed to produce any further score.

Army:—Rowlands; Swan and Steele; Ball, Lavton and Evans; Smith, Sandford, Howlett, Talbot and Ridings.
Navy:—Hayman; Begler and Wolverson; Tudor, Wride, and Wallace; Doran, Rose, Spencer, Gould and Wearmouth.

INDIAN R.C. HOLD ANNUAL SPORTS MEETING

S. A. Rumjahn Wins Two Races

ENJOYABLE AFTERNOON AT SOOKUNPOO

The Indian Recreation Club held their fifth annual athletic meeting at Sookunpoo yesterday, when a large number of members and their friends attended. The events this year were more or less "novelty" ones, only two championship races being held, the 100 yards and 220 yards, both of which were won by Sirdar Rumjahn, the ex-tennis champion.

At the conclusion of the races, Mrs. Abbas Khan, wife of one of the vice-presidents of the Club, distributed the prizes. In calling upon her to do so, Mr. A. J. Ar-culli, the president, made a few remarks in the course of which he congratulated the Club's second eleven on having won the Junior League Cricket Shield.

Pereira (seventh from left, back row), who took 8 wickets for 33 runs and Lt. M. K. Brannwell (second from left, middle row), who scored 51 runs. Miss Hancock Going Home

MISS ROSAMUND HANCOCK, twice winner of the Colony's Open Mixed Doubles Lawn Tennis championship with L. Goldman, and runner-up in the 1936 Ladies' Singles championship to Mrs. F. Wilson, will be leaving the Colony for England next Wednesday, accompanied by her sister Miss Honor Hancock, who is also a tennis player of no mean calibre, although she rarely plays in competitive tennis. Miss R. Hancock will probably be away from the Colony for two or three years.

Andrews In Shanghai

E. D. "Buster" Andrews, the New Zealand Davis Cup tennis player and a Director of Messrs. A. G. Spalding and Bros., the world famous sports goods manufacturers, left the Colony a week last Friday for Shanghai, Japan and America. He hopes to be at Wimbledon this year, although it is doubtful whether he will play.

Tong Making Comeback

TONG FU-SAM, who was one of the most promising breast-stroke swimmers at Queen's College some years ago, but who has not taken part in competitive swimming since he left school, is again taking a very active interest in this form of sport, and will probably figure in the swimming galas held by the Chinese bathing clubs at North Point during the summer months.

A Chip of the Old Block

SHERRY BUX, the eldest son of Iron Bux, former lightweight boxing champion of the Orient and welterweight champion of the Philippines, is following in his father's foot-steps as a boxer. Though he does not go in for the fight game in a serious way, he is an excellent man with the gloves and demonstrated this in no uncertain manner when sparring with a few friends recently.

It is strongly rumoured that A. V. Gorano, one of the Colony's finest all-rounders, above, will be retiring from soccer next season owing to the strain on his eyes.

Volunteer Soccer League?

THERE is a possibility that an inter-unit Football competition will be started among the different companies of the Hong Kong Volunteers next season and that the games will be played on Sundays, so as not to interfere with the sporting arrangements of other clubs.

Fall-Back As Goal-scorer

MAK SHUI-HON, the Athletic and Interport fall-back, started football with Eastern Athletic Association and was for several seasons their leading goal-scorer in the Second Division.

Billiards Assn. President

THE president of the newly formed Hong Kong Billiards Association, Mr. E. D. da Rosa, is himself an excellent player, having represented the Colony in two Interports against Shanghai. His highest break so far is 125. Besides billiards, Mr. da Rosa takes a very keen interest in golf and plays a very good game.

Abdul-Curreeem In Shanghai

L. S. ABDUL-CURREEEM, formerly Hon. Treasurer of the Young Indians' Football Club, and a very keen physical culturist, is now no longer in the Colony, having taken up an appointment in the insurance business in Shanghai.

Nomanbhoy Gives Up Cricket

H. NOMANBHOY, the former University slow leg-break bowler, who returned to India after taking his degree in Engineering, has had to give up cricket as he has joined a film company in India and is being kept very busy "on the technical side."

Tong Practising Breast-Stroke

F. S. TONG, the sharebroker, is taking up weight-lifting and swimming and is putting in a lot of practice at the breast-stroke. He takes his daily plunge at one of the many bathing clubs at North Point.

Soonderam's Comeback

V. SOONDERAM, who was one of the most promising of the junior tennis players in the Indian Recreation Club some seasons ago, is again taking up the game seriously and it is quite on the cards that he will be figuring in the Tennis League this summer. He is left-handed and with practice should go far.

Specialising!

MR. PUN IU CHIU, who won the Masters' Race at the Indian School Sports, seems to make a specialty of this event; he has now won it four times in all. In the old days Mr. Pun used to play tennis also, but he has long since given it up.

Aziz Turns To Tennis

A. A. AZIZ, the one-time University city cricketer and hockey player, has given these two forms of sport a rest for the past year or so. He is, instead, devoting his attention to tennis, which seems to have gained enormously in popularity at the L.R.C.

Karanja Takes up Tennis

D. N. P. KARANJA, who has played cricket regularly for the Craigengower Cricket Club first eleven this season, is now taking up tennis, at which he is "above the average."

Leo Weill Back To Sport?

FOLLOWERS of water polo will be interested to learn that there is a distinct possibility of Leo Weill, the well-known sharebroker, returning to the game this summer. Weill played with considerable success for the Kowloon team some years ago.

Concentration Needed

M. SOUSA, who has been keeping goal for the Radio this season, would develop into a good soccer player if he really concentrated on the game. While still at school he played at right-half for the Saints in the Senior League. He is also quite a useful hockey player, though he has only taken it up recently.

Souza Gives Up Soccer

U. B. SOUZA, the Portuguese international hockey player, has been obliged to give up football for the remainder of the season owing to an injured hand sustained three weeks ago.

Wake Up Baseball Executives!

UNLESS something is done to start the baseball season soon most of the games will have to be played during August and September. Since the departure of Mr. M. N. Cootes no one seems inclined to take the initiative in starting the league, though W. Muir of the Canadians, M. Chang of the Chinese and Y. Hachiuma of the Japanese are getting their teams ready for the season.

Wah Yan Baseballers

WAH YAN COLLEGE are making great strides in baseball under the able tuition of Ed. Chang, the Chinese Olympic player and one of the best pitchers in Hong Kong for several years. Their progress has so satisfied him that he feels sure that when the league starts they will be able to hold their own. Incidentally, none of the boys had played baseball before and few had ever witnessed a good game.

Promising Indian Sprinter

ANOTHER youngster who is following in his father's footsteps is Benny Omar, son of R. M. Omar, the former Colony 100 Yards sprinter. Benny is taking to athletics very seriously and should develop into a really fine runner.

The Hon. Sir Shoo-son Chew, above, enjoys a good game of baseball very much. He played for Columbia University in the early 90's.

Veteran L.R.C. Player Still Active

HIS many friends will be interested to learn that Sirdar Khan, the Indian Recreation Club's second eleven slow bowler and for many years their captain, is keeping very fit and well in his native India, where he is living in retirement. Although he no longer plays cricket, he does a lot of shooting. In a recent letter to a friend he expressed the wish to be remembered to all his cricketing friends.

"Lollie" Goldman, above, one of the Colony's best all-round sportsmen and holder of the Colony Open Mixed Doubles Lawn Tennis title on four occasions—twice with Mrs. H. C. Lochner, and twice with Miss Rosamund Hancock—and finalist in the Colony Open Doubles Championship on four occasions—once with J. S. MacEachran and three times with Teddy Fincher—and the probable 1936 Club champion, has definitely decided to retire from competitive tennis.

Mrs. "H.D." Takes Up Tennis

A newcomer to Indian Recreation Club ladies' tennis circles is Mrs. Eumjahn, wife of the popular "H.D." With so capable a coach as her husband, she should soon develop into a really useful player, especially since she is showing a natural aptitude for the game.

Cricket At St. Joseph's

THE interest taken in cricket in recent years by the students of St. Joseph's College is due to the untiring efforts of Mr. H. Azone, one of the masters.

Suffiad Forsakes Athletics

A. R. SUFFIAD, of the Indian Recreation Club second eleven, has given up athletics, although he was a very good sprinter in his school days. He won the championship at Queen's College for several years.

A Cricketer Worth Having

IT is a pity that Peter Cameron, the local sharebroker, cannot be persuaded to play cricket regularly as he is an excellent bat and in the few friendly matches that he has played in for the Brokers, he has shown distinct possibilities. He also used to play a good deal of Rugby football while at school, but this also has been relegated to the back-ground.

Sepher To Continue His Tennis

D. R. S. A. M. SEPPER, who played tennis for the Graduates' Association in the League last summer, again contemplates playing this year. It is a pity that pressure of work prevents him from playing tennis more often, as he is ideally suited to the League game.

Lawrence's Football Days

IT is perhaps not generally known that F. E. Lawrence, the Kowloon Cricket Club second eleven's opening batsman, used to play a very good game of soccer. He figured in the football League here many years ago, turning out with great success at right-back.

Saints' Mamak Withdrawal

Engineer Swimmers Start Training

THE Royal Engineers, who have a fine complement of swimmers, have already commenced their training at the European Y.M.C.A.'s heated swimming pool and are to be seen there practically every other day.

Combines Sport And Study

MISS JOYCE ANDERSON, who met with so much success at the University Sports a week ago last Saturday, is a sister of Donald Anderson, the Interport cricketer, who is now in England. Like her brother, she is also a King Edward VII Scholar and appears to thrive on the combination of sport and studies.

Tata Going To Shanghai

A. B. TATA, the University's first eleven wicket-keeper, will be leaving the Colony for Shanghai in the very near future, where he will spend the summer with his people. He is in his final year (Engineering) and whether he will return to the Colony or not will depend on the result of his final examination.

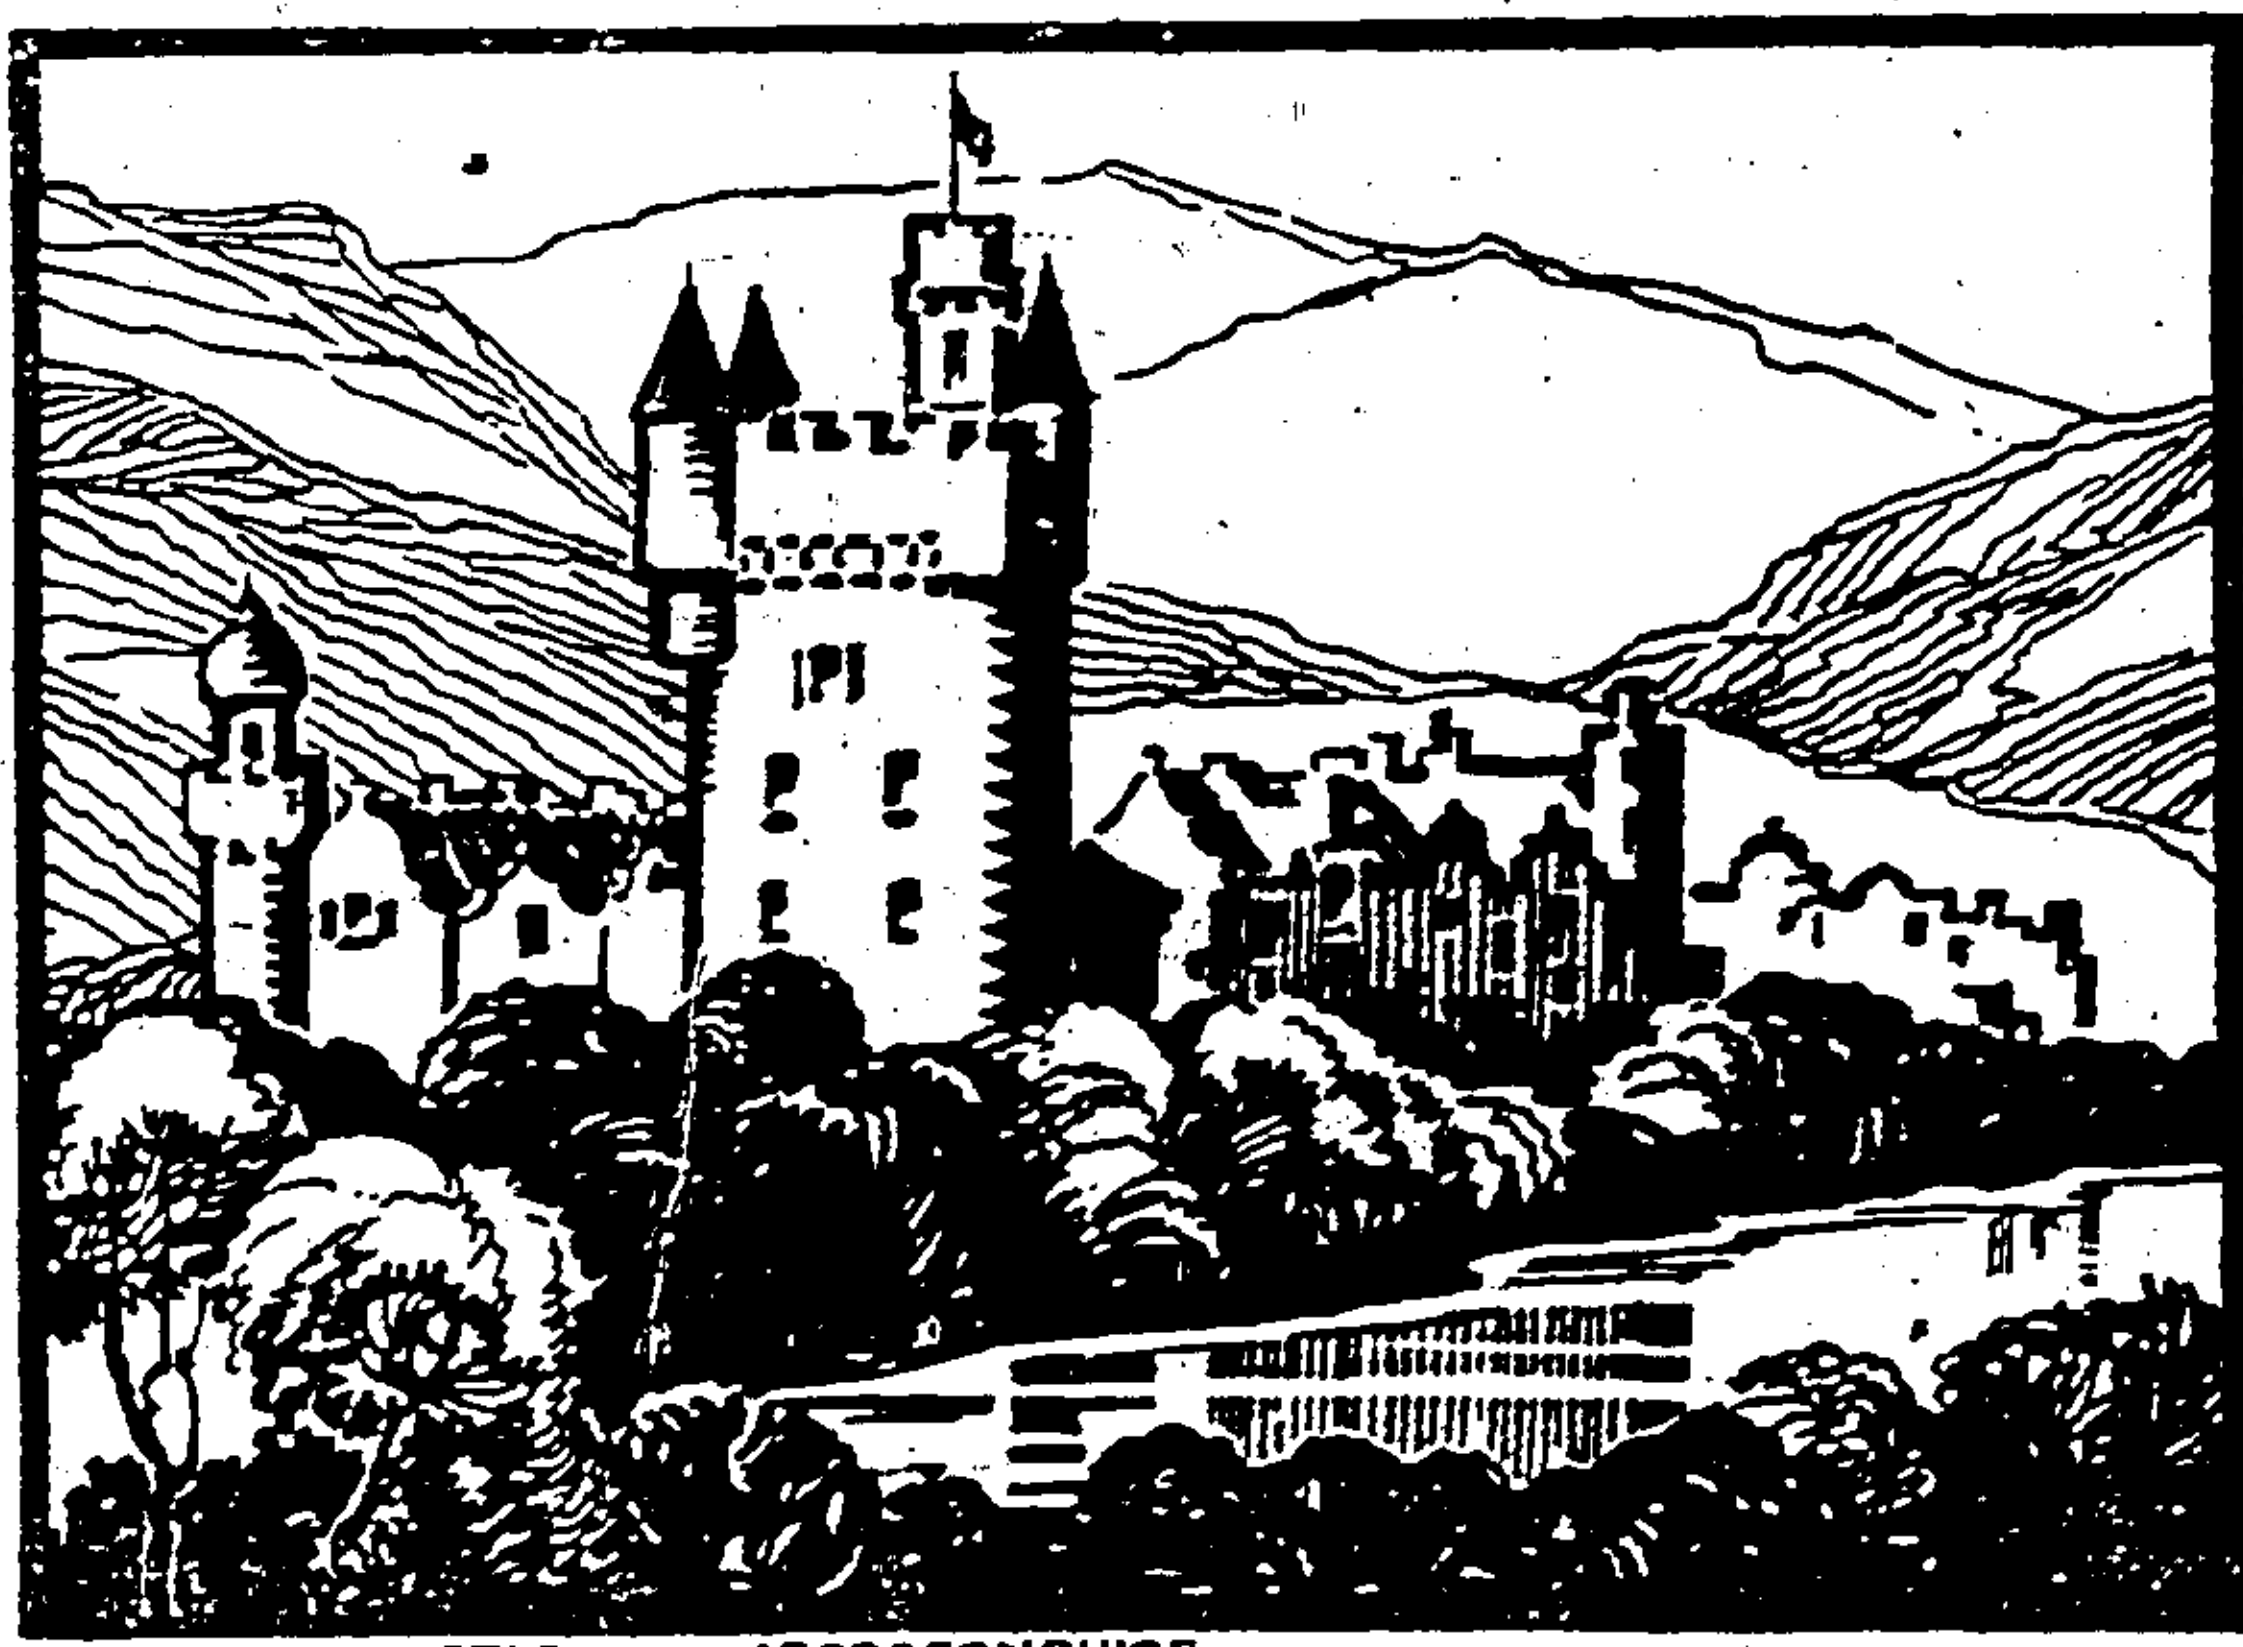

Silva Takes up Ju-Jitsu

LEO SILVA, the Victoria Recreation Club junior breast-stroke swimmer, has found a new interest. He has taken up the Japanese art of self-defence, ju-jitsu, and is, from all accounts, becoming quite an adept at it too!

Selby To Play for H.K.F.C.

J. A. R. SELBY, who has played J. bowls several years for the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club in the Second Division, will, it is understood, be playing for the Football Club this season.

"No Smoking"

Though the world to-day is tolerant of smokers, some few restrictions remain upon the indulgence of their habit, as illustrated by the case of a member of Parliament who lighted a cigarette in Standing Committee, and of a young man recently fined for smoking in an air liner. The air passenger was a man of experience in flying, who claimed that he had always smoked, and it was pointed out that on another British air line, on the Continent, and in the American air liners smoking was permitted. The smoker at Westminster was the second offender within a few weeks; the previous case was that of a woman member. It has been averred that the modern woman is more frequently to be found at fault with the light-hearted cigarette than is the man, on the assumption, perhaps, that greater latitude or leniency could always be claimed for a novice. But there is a type of both man and woman stubbornly incurious about the possible consequences of smoking on someone else's premises or in other people's company. They are often excused a lapse of good manners; breach of published regulations is another and more serious matter. A variety of reason may dictate these surviving prohibitions: it may be a precaution against fire in an aeroplane as in a coal mine, or it may be merely a safeguard of decorum in Parliament as in church. The prohibitions in England are few, and becoming fewer. The exercise of a little self-discipline is not too much to require for the observance so long as the wisdom of the authorities thinks them necessary.

Time From T I M

From March 21 Miss Ethel Cain takes her place among the lesser immortals. Thanks to the publicity with which the Post Office now conducts its affairs, we know that a test conducted with scientific impartiality proved her to have the best announcing voice of any telephone girl in England. From test to application has been a long business. Miss Cain's office, to be discharged by means of records of her voice, is to announce the time every 10 seconds, and there are a good many 10-second intervals in 12 hours. No wonder it has taken weeks to record them.

Henceforth, the telephone user will have another set of letters to memorize. T I M will take its place beside T O L and T R U, and that help in time of trouble—O. In days gone by, there was another method of ascertaining the time, by public enquiry. But the policeman of those days had no motor-cars to deal with and even he could not answer the man who was not sure whether it was time to get up. The telephone has now thrust in the thin end of the wedge of a claim to the place by the bedside from which those of us who use the instrument a good deal have struggled to keep it. As for those who do not use it, the children who ask the right time—always with the accent on the adjective, from old gentlemen in the parks—they will carry on as before.

ROSARY CHURCH WEDDING

Noronha — Ribeiro
WELL-KNOWN PORTUGUESE FAMILIES UNITED

A party wedding, of great interest to the Portuguese community, was solemnised at the Rosary Church, Kowloon, yesterday afternoon, when Miss Regina Ribeiro, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. V. Ribeiro, became the bride of Mr. Carlos Noronha, third son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Noronha.

The Rev. Father Rossi officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in an embroidered organdie gown by Madam Dalin. She carried a sheaf of arm lilies.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Elsa, Olga, Helena and O. M. Ribeiro, Myra Noronha and Annabelle d'Almada, wore dresses of white crushed organdie and carried heart-shaped bouquets of carnations.

The bride's mother chose royal blue satin crepe.

Mr. F. A. V. Ribeiro was best man and Mr. E. A. Noronha was groomsmen.

Appropriate music was rendered on the organ by Miss Freda Dixon.

A reception was held at the Club de Recreio and later the newly-wed couple left for Macao. The bride's going-away dress was of pink French crepe set off with a large picture hat.

CAR USED WITHOUT PERMISSION

Gunner Fined $20

Gunner Robert Disher was this morning fined $20 by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy for driving car No. 913 without the permission of the owner, Mr. W. Manchlogen, in Wanchai on Saturday morning.

Traffic Sub-Inspector Saunders said that the defendant was seen in Wanchai early on Saturday morning and had some difficulty with the car. Sergeant Freyer stopped him and in reply to questions, defendant said that the car had been lent to him by a quarter-master sergeant. Later he changed his story and said that an individual had asked him to take the car to the Garrison Lecture hall. The hall was closed, so defendant was placed in military custody. The car was undamaged, and defendant had a driver's licence.

While admitting the charge, defendant denied that he ever mentioned a quarter-master sergeant and said that a gentleman had asked him to take the car to the Garrison Sergeants' mess which he did, but he was not there.

The Stone Of Sacrifice

NOWHERE in the world was human sacrifice as appalling as in old Mexico. Men, women and children were sacrificed in seasons of drought, during dedication of temples and for various other reasons. The manner of sacrifice was particularly revolting. Five priests held the victim, while a sixth, clad in a scarlet cloak, extracted the living, palpitating heart, to raise it in homage to the Sun God. Twenty thousand victims were sacrificed in this manner yearly.

The Stone of Sacrifice, which is now in the Museo Nacional in Mexico, is easily the bloodiest spot in all history. On this huge cylinder, which measures 8-2/3 feet in diameter, 2 1/2 feet in thickness, more than a million victims are said to have been sacrificed to Huitzilopochtli, the God of War.

In 1486, 70,000 captives are said to have been sacrificed here within a short time. In one alone of the edifices adjoining the Temple, Cortez is said to have counted 186,000 skulls of those sacrificed on the stone.

FOUNDED BY A PARSON

The fund is now nearly 150 years old. This is how it began. A Greek scholar named Sydenham was arrested for money due on account of food. He was thrown into prison and died there.

A Nonconformist parson named David Williams was so moved by this story that he started the fund so that such things need not happen in future.

The fund has helped a good many distinguished people, including Hogg, the Ettrick shepherd, and in its archives is a letter from Robert Burns's widow.

"The improvidence of genius is proverbial," it says, "and to the list of men of genius by whom pecuniary attentions have been neglected the name of Robert Burns must, unfortunately for his family, be added."

The fund did what it could for Mrs. Burns and her five sons.

UNEASY PATH FOR SPANISH PREMIER

OBVIOUS CLASH OF PARTY IDEALS

LEADERS OF VARIOUS POLITICAL GROUPS INTERVIEWED

(By Bertram Willmore)

A GOVERNMENT of the Left, composed principally of advanced Republicans and Socialists, has been in power in Spain under the Premiership of Senor Azana since the general elections of February 16. The Left gained a majority of about 30 seats over the Royalist, Catholic and Conservative parties of the Right block and the Centre. The Azana Government has already amnestied the 30,000 people who were imprisoned all over Spain for complicity in the October, 1934, revolution in Asturias and Catalonia.

It has taken the first step towards giving back to Catalonia its precious autonomous Government, which had been suppressed after the 1934 revolution. It has decreed a number of other measures and has made an energetic start on the task of finding work for Spain's 700,000 unemployed.

But every day it becomes more apparent that, though the Left extremists feed and grow strong on such political fare, it does not satisfy their appetites.

Spain "Just Reborn"

Senor Azana is determined to govern legally and to maintain order. Many of the Communists and other extremists are more and more confidently claiming that they will have all they want—and they want a good deal—whether they get it legally or not.

Don Luis Zulueta, a Left Republican and Foreign Minister in Senor Azana's last Cabinet—tall, spare, benevolent and bespectacled—declares that the Spanish nation has "just been reborn." The Catholics might become circumstantial Monarchists. The Socialists are faced now with the problem of whether they should eventually try to seize power and establish a dictatorship of the proletariat, or whether they should continue to act constitutionally. We are to have a Socialist congress very shortly and the point will certainly be decided then.

"Personally I hope the party will not decide in favour of a dictatorship of the proletariat."

"Fortunately, tolerance is a marked characteristic of our Constitution, and I believe Senor Azana is the very man to interpret it and carry it out intelligently and tolerantly."

A Socialist Comp?

Senor Julian Besteiro, leader of the moderate and intellectual Socialists, taller and leaner even than Senor Zulueta and equally benevolent-looking, considers the elections a triumph for "pure" Republicans and Socialists against the reactionaries. He expects that the Left's Radical election pact will be quickly carried out.

"But if the whole programme is realised," he assured me, "I shall not be satisfied. Many really Socialist measures are excluded from the pact."

"There is, for instance, the economic problem of Asturias, once an exceptionally prosperous province, but now greatly depressed; the need to reorganise the railway systems and harmonise road and rail transport services; the need to increase the national electricity output and develop the industry, and the great problem of unemployment, particularly in the agricultural industry. A Government, even a bourgeois one, must try to solve these problems."

"I believe the Azana Government could work on such lines for years with the help and support of the Socialists in Parliament and their syndical organisations in the country."

Dictatorship Trend

"Senor Gil Robles' C.E.D.A. party seem to have a tendency towards a dictatorship rather on the lines of that in Austria. The Catholics might become circumstantial Monarchists. The Socialists are faced now with the problem of whether they should eventually try to seize power and establish a dictatorship of the proletariat, or whether they should continue to act constitutionally. We are to have a Socialist congress very shortly and the point will certainly be decided then."

"Personally I hope the party will not decide in favour of a dictatorship of the proletariat."

THE FIRST AIR-COOLED HOUSE—HEMPSTEAD HOME BUILT 300 YEARS AGO AND LINED WITH SEAWEED

As the world eagerly awaited the decision of the League of Nations Council in London on Germany's remilitarisation of the Rhineland last month, Herr Adolf Hitler continued his speaking campaign in the occupied area, looking to coming elections there. These scenes from the Rhineland show: a German machine unit (below) crossing a bridge into Cologne; (left) Coblenz children gazing at a German sentry, and Reich leaders who executed the occupation (L to R.) Minister of War General Werner von Blomberg, the Air Minister, General Hermann Goering; Field Marshal Von Mackensen and Chancellor Hitler.

The best cricket of the afternoon came when Lt. Branwell went out to bat and settled down at once to play the most attractive innings he has yet played out here. He has made better scores than 51, but I doubt if he has ever shown more confidence or that he had ever brought off as many pretty shots. His best scoring shot on Saturday was an on-drive and pull rolled into one, and though he did give a chance to Gittins on the leg-boundary, the ball was travelling at such a terrific rate that it did not come as a surprise to see the fielder drop it. Branwell was 48 minutes at the crease, during which time he hit eight boundaries.

A W. Hayward batted more freely than he has done for a long time, while A. E. Perry had a merry stay at the wicket, his 22 including a beautiful sixer off Goodwin from a full toss on the leg stump.

The Second Failure
After declaring at 175 runs for the loss of 8 wickets, Branwell decided to send Kowloon in again, and when he started the bowling with Pereira and Garthwaite, one of the spectators was heard to remark, "so this is quite serious." Kowloon failed, for the second time to come off against the well-varied Rest attack. Pereira took had lost 7 wickets or 83 runs.

Today's Complete Short Story

ON THE WARPATH

by F. Sandford Wilson

NOW, don't forget. You're to be home by seven o'clock. And if you're a minute late, I'll give you the biggest 'iding you ever 'ad. See?"

"O.K., Mum."
He sidled from the tiny kitchen, scampered through the passage, and opened the front door. Stepped out on to the dirty pavement beyond. Slammed the door behind him.

Freedom!
He threw back his head and gave a whoop of pure joy. Then he imitated in turn the noises made by an aeroplane, a motor-bike, and a steam engine.

Then he paused to consider. What should he do next? Suddenly he remembered. Of course—that iron railing.

Three wickets, Garthwaite two and Prowse and Perse one each. While the first named was making them come off at a tremendous rate, Prowse showed excellent control of the ball and he also fought his deliveries very cleverly.

Teddy Fincher made up for his failure in the first innings by scoring 39 runs not out, but the rest of the side fared very poorly and when stumps were drawn they varied Rest attack. Pereira took had lost 7 wickets or 83 runs.

He ran along the street and turned down a narrow alley. It was wretchedly paved and full of puddles. He jumped in the middle of every one, and his feet were soaking by the time he reached the other end.

Here was situated a derelict cottage. Its tiny front garden was filled with rubbish and dirt, and enclosed by a set of spear-shaped iron railings, most of which were missing. Of those that remained, only one was still intact.

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's Story will be "Her Name Was Mary," by Colin Howard.

Earlier that day he had spent a long time loosening this railing by scraping away the mortar from its base with a bit of broken glass. But he hadn't been able to finish the job.

He found the broken glass again, and went on with the work, pausing from time to time to test the railing with his grubby little hands.

At last it was quite free at the base, but the neck of it was still fixed in the flat crossbar. Releasing it would be a delicate operation. He knew from past experience that he must not use force, otherwise the shaft was liable to snap off like a carrot, leaving the head of the railing behind.

So he gripped the thing above and below the cross-bar, and gently, very gently, twisted it first one way and then the other.

At last it yielded and he drew it carefully out.
From that moment it ceased to be an iron railing and became a spear. He brandished it triumphantly. He held it poised, ready to hurl at some invisible foe. He leant upon it, and surveyed the landscape, shading his eyes with his other hand.

He was an Indian scout. The narrow alley was a track through the heart of the forest.

On tiptoe, he began the return journey. Not a twig crackled beneath his feet. Whenever he came to a puddle, he tried its depth with his spear, and then waded carefully through it.

Presently he reached his own village again. It was thronged with painted warriors who gathered about him, eager for news of the enemy. He sat on the kerb, with his feet in the gutter and his spear across his knees, and a council of war was held.

A lamp-lighter passed by. The Indian scout motioned the other warriors to retire, and crept silently after the mysterious stranger, taking advantage of every scrap of cover.

Mak Shui-hon, the Athletic and Olympic right-back, was ill with an attack of influenza, and his place was filled by Chung Fai-lum, while Yue Hing-yuen filled the left-back position vacated by Chua Boon Lay, the Malayan-Chinese player, who left for Singapore on Saturday.

The Chinese backs were fairly good, but were unable to prevent the goals scored against them, most of which were netted from outside the penalty area. The halves played a strenuous game and Lee Kwok-wai had his time fully taken up in keeping a watchful eye on Fowler, while Wong Mee-shun proved the equal of Forrow in the opening half, but found D. Knox in the second half, a little too clever at times.

Liang, on the right-flank, had the measure of Knox in the opening half and used his speed to advantage in clever interceptions, but in the second half Costa gave him a good run for his money and also a gruelling time in the bargain.

The Chinese forwards, and particularly Cheuk Shek-kam and Ip Pak-wa, who resorted to the "W" formation of attack, were good, but, although the Association's defence was very ragged at times, they found extreme difficulty in piercing the Association defence.

Tio At His Best

Kia, on the right-wing, showed a fine turn of speed and invariably placed the ball in the right place, while Cheuk was very dangerous in his following up. Tio Hian-guan gave his brightest performance since his arrival in the Colony, and scored the goal which marked the turning point in the encounter.

Ip Pak-wa, was, as usual, the "brains" of the attack and with Yeung Shui-yick was the most dangerous pair on display, the latter, although really a right-winger, sending over some glorious centres, many of which went abegging.

The Association team lacked a reliable goalkeeper, Boyes suffering from a surprising attack of nerves. Everest and Bowen were, however, not the type of backs to inspire confidence and in the first half were repeatedly at fault.

Halves Fail

Blackburn was utterly lost at right-half, while Elms was a failure on the left-flank, and consequently the brunt of the Chinese attack fell on the shoulders of Costa, who gave a magnificent performance. The forwards were all on the mark and Fowler was again in deadly form, his second goal, a first-timer, being a perfect example of timing and precision.

G. White worked hard to make the openings, while Knox, first half, on the left-wing, and later as leader of the attack, was in deadly form—his goal was one of the best "daisy-cutters" I have ever seen in the Colony. Pearce brought off several useful drives which proved disconcerting to Wong Wing and his two backs, while Forrow was not seen at his best until he moved back to the pivotal position, where he had Tio Hian-guan where he wanted him.

On the whole the Chinese team did not shine as much as anticipated, but they are very promising reserves for the team to play in the Berlin World Olympic Games.

Boyes' Lapse

The game opened at a terrific pace and within the first five minutes the Association team opened the scoring through a penalty taken by Fowler, Wong Mee-shun handling in the area.

Immediately after the kick-off a centre from Kia was fumbled by Boyes, and Cheuk Shek-kam rushed in to equalise for the Chinese.

The Chinese took the lead when a perfect centre from the right by Kia was turned into the net by Ip Pak-wa shuttlecock-wise, Everest being badly positioned for a possible clearance.

The Association team were soon pressing and a centre by Knox saw Costa send in a terrific drive as the result of a first-time shot, the ball, however, grazing the cross-bar.

The Association made several changes during the interval, Costa moving out to the left-wing, while his pivotal position was filled by Forrow. Knox moving to centre-forward to fill the vacancy there. Blackburn was transferred to his original position at right-back, and Everest moved up to right-half.

Very Fine Goal

The second half also had its quota of thrills and Fowler evoked roars of applause when he beat Wong Wing hands down with a "cannon-ball" drive to level the scores.

Soon after the Association team once again secured a slender lead when Knox cut through and banged home a terrific "daisy-cutter" which entered the net just inside the post. Wong Wing diving full-length in vain. But the Chinese were not to be denied, and almost from the kick-off Tio Hian-guan equalised after a fine solo effort, drawing Blackburn and Boyes before crashing the ball into the net from an oblique angle.

The display of the Colony halves, especially the wing men, was disappointing and it was no fault of theirs that they once again took the lead when Costa, who had moved over to the left-wing, scored from outside the penalty area.

Boyes' Second Lapse

Then came a series of mistakes by the Association halves, Ip Pak-wa equalising to bring the scores level at 4-4, and a few minutes before time Yeung Shui-yick cut through for the winning goal, which Boyes made no attempt to save, thinking the ball would be wide of its mark!

Just before the final whistle a second penalty was awarded the Association, but Fowler missed the goal!

ACID THROWN AT WOMAN

Unemployed Chinese Sentenced

CRIMINAL SESSIONS CASE

Found guilty at the Criminal Sessions this morning of the charge of throwing corrosive fluid at Yip Lim, married woman, at Pennington Street, Wanchai, on February 12, last, with intent to burn, maim or disfigure her, Chan Fai, an unemployed Chinese, was sentenced to five years' hard labour by the Acting Chief Justice, His Honour Mr. Justice Lindsell.

The jury was comprised of Messrs. R. Pestonji (foreman), C. A. Olson, Ho Chun-chow, Yip Bang-ki, A. G. Gomes, G. J. Grover and Chan Kiu-ai.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, was for the Crown, while the prisoner was not legally represented.

In his outline of the case, Mr. Williams said that the victim had previously lived with the accused as his mistress but she left him in December, last year, after they had had many a quarrel.

Continuing, Mr. Williams said that some time after the woman met the accused near the Central Fire Station, when he told her to "mind out for yourself the next time you go out." On February 3, last, the accused went to a mechanic's shop and asked a foki to buy 10 cents worth of nitric acid for him, saying that he wanted it for blowing up toy balloons.

"Only Threatened Her"

Coming to the day in question, Mr. Williams said that the woman was walking along Pennington Street at about 1.30 p.m. when all of a sudden someone came in front of her, and the next thing she felt was some fluid running down her face. It was only after this had happened that the woman saw it was the accused, who, by this time, was trying to run away.

A passer-by, Shek Pui, saw the incident, and together with the woman gave chase, finally catching the accused near the Sookpoo Market. He was then handed over to a constable and the parties concerned went to the No. 2 Police Station.

The woman was later taken to the Government Civil Hospital and the injuries were found to have been consistent with burns by some corrosive fluid.

At the Lower Court proceedings, the accused said that he had not intended to harm the woman. He only threatened her with the fluid, but she tried to ward off his hand and the bottle containing the fluid fell on her.

The woman then went into the box and gave evidence corroborating Mr. Williams' outline and after further evidence had been taken, the jury retired for a few minutes and returned a unanimous verdict of guilty.

After passing sentence on the accused, His Lordship commended Shek Pui on his public-spiritedness in helping to catch the accused.

POSSESSION OF DYNAMITE

Sub-Contractor Caught With Goods

Wai Yau-leung, a sub-contractor, was this morning fined $100, in default two months' hard labour, by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy for possession of 40 sticks of dynamite, 40 detonators and one coil of fuse.

Sub-inspector Dredge said that the defendant was arrested on information in Tung Shung Street, Aberdeen, yesterday carrying a suitcase with the goods in it. It appears that the dynamite was what was left over from the daily issue to the contractor who is doing work in connection with the Aberdeen Reservoir.

FORTHCOMING WEDDING

The forthcoming wedding is announced of FL. Lt. James Noel Douglas Anderson, R.A.F., and Miss Constance Emery, of No. 38, Park Hill Road, Wallington, Surrey, England.

LARGE HAUL OF OPIUM

Sampan Master Fined $7,000

Chau Fuk-yuen, master of a sampan, was this morning fined $7,000, in default one year's hard labour, by Mr. S. F. Bal-four at the Central Magistracy when charged with possession of 2,160 taels of raw opium and 200 taels of prepared opium on board the boat in Shaikwan.

Revenue Officer, Grimmett said that the opium was concealed in the false bottom of the boat.

Forged One Dollar Notes

According to information obtained at the Treasury Office, the forged $1 notes which have since been detected can be distinguished by the following comparisons:

Colour:—The forgeries are of a light shade of purple (inclined to brownish), and the shading from purple to white is not gradual. The likeness of His late Majesty is blurred and the eyebrows are too pronounced. In comparing the framework of a forged note and a genuine one, many differences have been revealed. The dark shading in the forgery on the front and back sides is not deep enough. The green and orange tones are also more pronounced in the genuine note than in the forged one.

Numbering:—The bottom left-hand number is inclined to be too high in the forged bank note.

Paper:—This is stiff and possesses a "dead feeling."

Measurements:—The forged note on the front measures 113½ x 69 millimetres as against 115 x 69 millimetres on the genuine note.

Other Observations:—On the reverse side of the forgery there are two spots (flaws) just above the "51" sign on the left side.

GERMAN SPORTS SYSTEM

Various Branches United

NEW ORDER IN FORCE

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Berlin, To-day.

Since, over a century ago, "Turnvater Jahn" laid the foundation stone for athletics and physical culture in Germany, the dream of all sportsmen has been to see all sporting activities in Germany united under one organisation. This was at last achieved yesterday, when an immense inaugural ceremony took place at the new Deutschland Hall, and the establishment of a German Athletic Federation was formally pronounced.

When, in 1933, Herr Hitler became Chancellor, there were still over 300 independent sport organisations in the Reich. Patient organisation was therefore needed to achieve this amalgamation without destroying any great positive features already developed.

From now on all athletics, sports and physical culture can be developed uniformly in all parts of the Reich, and form part of the national education.

The event was celebrated with great rejoicing, 20,000 young people being addressed by the Reich Sports Leader, Herr von Tschammer and Osten, who unfurled the new Reich sports flag.—Trans-Ocean Service.

POLITICS IN SPAIN

Intriguing Officers To Lose Pensions

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

London, To-day.

By 212 votes to 4, the whole Right Wing abstaining, the Cortes passed the new military law, which prescribes that all officers who at the foundation of the Republic voluntarily withdrew from service because they did not want to serve under a Republic, and who had since then been engaged in politics, would receive no further pension or other payments.

Premier Azana declared that this measure was only calculated against those who had been intriguing against the Republic. The individual decision in each case lies with the Home Minister.—Trans-Ocean Service.

WIGHTMAN CUP

AMERICAN TEAM ANNOUNCED

NO NEWCOMERS

New York, To-day.

The United States Lawn Tennis Association has named Miss Helen Jacobs, Miss Carolyn Babcock, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey-Fabry and Mrs. J. Van Ryn, as members of the American Wightman Cup team to meet Great Britain at Wimbledon on June 12 and 13 next.

Mrs. Helen Wills-Moody has not yet been selected owing to her indecision regarding participation in international competitions, but she will be added to the team if she decides to go abroad later.—Reuter.

America won the Wightman Cup last year by 4 matches to 3 at Forest Hills and of the four selected to make the trip to Wimbledon this time, Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Fabry played in the singles matches, while Miss Babcock figured in the doubles with Mrs. N. D. Andrus as her partner. Mrs. Van Ryn is the wife of the famous Davis Cup doubles player and no newcomer to international tennis.

It will be remembered that Miss Kathleen Stammers, Britain's second string, created a sensation when she beat Miss Jacobs, the Wimbledon runner-up, in straight sets to open last year's series.

Senor Largo Caballero, the extreme Socialist leader, dubbed by many the Lenin of Spain, is small and rather plump. His hair is very thin. He is fair-complexioned and has light blue eyes. His smile is charming, easy and as innocent as that of a child. He thinks that the Government have begun "badly."

"Fundamentally, all the parties of the Right are Monarchists. They want capitalism and a king-like President of the Republic," he told me.

No Money From Soviet

"One of the great difficulties of the Republic is that the leadership of the country in the army and the Ministries is in the hands of Monarchists. We want to re-publicanise all these posts. The Government ought to do this."

Senor Jose Diaz, leader of the Communist party—a middle-aged bar-keeper in humble circumstances, said he was delighted with the election results.

"Now work will have to be found for the workers. The Government has begun well," he declared. "We shall be sympathetic towards it while it carries out the Left pact, the measures of which will be beneficial to the workers and the middle classes."

"There is much unemployment. Capital must be used and not left lying idle."

Senor Diaz ruefully denied stories that his party had received large sums of money from Russia to help the organisation. "I only wish," he added, with a smile, "that they would send me some. Trade is bad."

No Dictator

Senor Gil Robles, leader of the C.E.D.A. Catholics—a large man, young, dark, energetic and efficient—who will be the leader of the strongest single party in the Cortes, denied any desire to become a dictator or restore the monarchy. He emphasised that he was a convinced Republican.

In Parliament he proposed to oppose the Government reasonably, but not systematically. He thought the position of Senor Azana, with the Socialists and Communists at his back always pushing him along, would be increasingly difficult. He did not believe the Government would last for the full four years' life of this Parliament.

Senor Jose Calve Sotelo, leader of the Monarchists—the dark and distinguished-looking Finance Minister during the dictatorship of Gen. Primo de Rivera and now the leader of the Monarchists—admitted to me that the elections had thrown all thoughts of a restoration of the Monarchy far back on the horizon.

"For the time being, at least," he said, "the most urgent thing is to defend the Republic against Communism."

"The Rights will, I think, support the Government because the Government will try to withstand the revolutionary pressure of the Socialists and the Communists. The Socialists in Spain are not like those in England or Belgium. Here 90 per cent. of them want revolutionary tactics—a dictatorship of the proletariat."

Faith in The Army

"I think we are bound to have

FINE NOT TO BE REMITTED

Woman Who Joined In Race

Nottingham.
The Earl of Lonsdale made the following statement last month concerning the recent incident at the Melton Hunt Steeplechase at Burton Lazars, when Mrs. Leo Partridge, wife of Mr. Partridge, the rider of Pharaoh's Queen, was fined £10 for joining in the last race:

"There is not the slightest chance of the fine being withdrawn. If it is, it will have to go before the National Hunt Committee."

Lord Lonsdale stated that formal notice of the fine had not been given.
Mrs. Partridge has not stated what caused her to join in the race, but Mr. George Beeby, the Melton trainer, said she was apparently carried away by the excitement of the moment. Instead of keeping her hunter off the course she rode alongside her husband to urge him at the finish.

a dictatorship in Spain some day, but I do not know whether it will be of the Left or of the Right. The C.E.D.A. will never be a party of dictatorship in Spain. I am not myself a supporter of dictatorship.

"If there is a moment of great danger for the country from Communist agitation I believe the army will step in and save it if there are no politicians capable of doing so. The army will not let Spain fall into a Red revolution. At the moment everyone of the Right is hoping that Senor Azana will check the Red advance."

"I do not like dictatorships, but I believe democracy in Spain will always lead, inevitably, to Communism. My ideal is for a country to have some sort of a corporative Parliament, in some ways like that of Italy, but even more like that of Portugal."

"Sixty per cent. of the nation is proletarian. We have a small middle class and a fairly strong and numerous upper class. Gradual evolution is what will bring us the greatest happiness and prosperity. At present the country is split in two politically and there are not many points of agreement between the two sections."

"Danger in The Street"

Speaking in terms of Parliamentary representation, he thought the present situation much better than that of 1931. The minority is stronger, and though the Government is composed of much the same people it has more experience.

"The fact that there is a General at the War Ministry seems to me an advantage," he said. "He will preserve the moral unity of the army better than a politician could."

"In the streets the situation is worse, because the political temperature is higher than it was in 1931. Senor Azana will obviously try to keep public order. At present things are not too difficult for him, but when his 'honeymoon' with the extremists is a little older the situation may become strained and dangerous."

"Economic conditions are infinitely worse than in 1931. The Right is immensely strong, and it might have been governing now had it not been for bad tactics. It will govern again," he said, firmly.

THIEVES RING UP COMPOSER.

Sentimentality Leads To Arrest

STOLEN RINGS RETURNED

Vienna.
An act of chivalry on the part of robbers is believed to have been responsible both for their arrest and the return of family heirlooms to Franz Lehar, composer of "The Merry Widow" and other operettas.

The robbers recently stole a quantity of property from M. Lehar, who later pleaded for the return for sentimental reasons of some treasures among the booty.

To his surprise, a woman rang him up, said she was Leopoldine Degenhardt, friend of one of the robbers. They were disposed to return a ring which belonged to the composer's father, she added.

Precious Rings
Before the ring could be returned, however, the robbers, she said, wanted a detailed description of it and this she drew from M. Lehar over the telephone.

He then asked if two other rings equally precious to him could also be returned, but the woman replied that there was a limit to her companions' complaisance.

When the composer asked how much the band wanted for returning the ring, the woman said they considered the remainder of the booty as sufficient compensation.

The conversation then terminated, but a few hours later the police, it is now disclosed, arrested the entire band, including Leopoldine Degenhardt, who confirmed her talk with M. Lehar.

The composer has now recovered all three rings.

This picture was made a moment after Mrs. Thomas Penn was swept from the grasp of her would-be rescuers when the four were marooned on a flooded street of Laganasport, Indiana, by the sudden rise of the El River. The prostrate man is John W. Penn, aged 77, the lost woman's father-in-law. Ralph Bargerhoff (left) and the woman's son, Leroy (right), are calling for help, which arrived just in time to rescue them.

HELEN JACOBS "GONGED"

Speeding In Car Of U.S. Embassy

DIPLOMATIC PRIVILEGE NOT INVOLVED

When Miss Helen Jacobs, the lawn tennis player, of Princess Gate Kensington, was summoned at Mortlake Police Court last month for exceeding the speed limit, the question of diplomatic privilege was mentioned. Her solicitor, Mr. Razzle, explained that her failure to appear at a previous hearing was due to a delay in the service of the summons, as a diplomatic car was involved.

Inspector Porter said that when the car was stopped the police officers noticed that it was one attached to the American Embassy; they thought the driver would claim diplomatic privilege so they did not warn her in the usual way.

Warning Sent. Later, however, when they found that Miss Jacobs was not entitled to diplomatic privilege, the warning was sent to her. Her speed in Lonsdale-road, Barnes, was given as 45 m.p.h., and when she was stopped she said, "I did not know it was a built-up area."

Miss Jacobs was fined £2; the Chairman said that it was time some special sign was placed in Lonsdale-road to stop the continual pleas of ignorance by motorists summoned at that court.

COMEDIAN AT SINGAPORE

Chaplin And "Our" Affairs

Singapore. Immense crowds gathered near the waterfront recently anxious for a glimpse of Charles Chaplin and his fiancée and leading lady, Miss Paulette Goddard.

The possibility of a marriage while they are staying here had roused the greatest public interest. Three hours before the liner Suwa Maru was due the authorities decided to exclude the public from the ship, and strong detachments of police were posted by the local authorities.

Question Evaded. And on arrival Mr. Chaplin evaded the direct question concerning "our affairs."

He merely smiled when he was asked to say "Yes" or "No" to the question whether he was marrying while in Singapore.

He smiled all the time, and his friends on board the ship express the opinion that he is certainly marrying if he can obtain a licence.

ON THE WARPATH

When the man halted at the next lamppost, the Indian scout crouched behind a bush and watched him, spear held in readiness.

The man said: "Oi, what lark's this? Put that blooming thing down."

With grave dignity, the Indian scout lowered the point of his weapon and allowed the friendly stranger to depart in peace.

It grew dark. Other adventures followed, the dingy back street becoming first an open prairie, then a boulder-strewn mountain pass, and then a thick jungle.

ITALIAN WOMAN ASSAULTED

Death Sentence On Six Youths

INCIDENT AT SYDNEY

Sydney. Six youths, aged between 16 and 20, were sentenced to death at Sydney last month for an assault on a young Italian woman in Parramatta Park.

A seventh youth was sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

The judge expressed the opinion that the death sentences would not be carried out.

Six women relatives of the accused youths collapsed screaming, outside the court, and several were removed in an ambulance.

son, realising the sacrifices of his father, in turn sacrificing himself, as the picture reaches a triumphant, smashing climax.

The tiger-elephant act, around which the action revolves, was said to be an impossibility by many expert circus men, but it will be seen for the first time on the screen, when Wallace Beery puts a tiger on an elephant's back and puts the two jungle beasts through a ring of fire.

"ROSE OF THE RANCHO"—ORIENTAL THEATRE

The story of "Rose of the Rancho" a beautiful, high-spirited Spanish girl who led her people against the rapacious American land-grabbers in the first years of California's Statehood, has thrilled motion picture and stage audiences alike for more than 20 years.

Now for the first time this dashing romance of old Monterey comes to the screen with a musical score, with Gladys Swarthout, brilliant star of the Metropolitan opera, and John Boles, handsome dramatic singer, in the leading roles.

Music, however, was not blended with the drama of the Spanish Dons until its revival for Miss Swarthout and Boles, with Charles Bickford, H. B. Warner, Willie Howard, Herb Williams, Grace Bradley, and others in the cast.

He thundered over the prairie on a wild pony, brandishing his spear above his head. He toiled along the mountain pass, using the spear as a kind of alpenstock. He wandered erratically about the road, following the narrow jungle tracks, and killing lions and tigers with his spear.

Presently his travels took him into the main thoroughfare, close by.

He was now, he decided, in a hostile country. And it was in truth a very different world from the one he had just left behind.

Fashionably dressed men and women thronged the pavements. The shops were brilliantly lit, displaying costly and beautiful goods. The traffic glided in two uncongested streams up and down the broad roadway. Electric signs blinked their multicoloured eyes.

He held his spear firmly in one hand. He was on a spying expedition. It was dangerous work. The moment he brushed against a passer-by, he was captured.

For ten breathless minutes, dodging and squirming along, he managed to avoid all contact with the enemy. Then came disaster. A stout lady in a fur coat gave an unexpected lurch, and touched his elbow.

He scowled viciously. It is very humiliating to be taken prisoner by a woman.

However, he soon escaped, and the scene changed.

Now there was a yawning precipice beyond the pavement, and the kerbstone was a narrow ledge along which he must walk. One false step and he would be hurled to death.

This proved a thrilling ordeal, and eventually, in trying to pass a pillar-box, his spear hampered him and he lost his balance.

Down he fell, hundreds and hundreds of feet. But there was a deep river in the gutter, and that saved his life. He rose to the surface, still grasping his trusty spear, and swam ashore.

At that moment, a sound from the world of everyday suddenly impinged on the world of his imagination.

The sound was the crashing of glass. He looked round.

Thirty yards away was a jeweller's shop. There was a gaping hole in the window. A man was running across the pavement towards a big saloon car.

The car glided off. The man jumped on the footboard, scrambled in.

Dozens of people were passing by. They stood still and stared. They seemed paralysed. The jeweller rushed out of the shop. "Stop that car!" he yelled. "Stop that car!"

The car gathered speed. On the kerbstone was a small boy, mouth agape. He too seemed paralysed.

But suddenly he came to life. There was something in his hand. An iron railing. He held it by the shaft. Raised it. Poised it on high, as though it were a spear. Flung it with all his might at the oncoming car. Again there was a crashing of glass. The spear had found the windscreen.

The car swerved, mounted the pavement. People scattered. Somehow the driver regained control. There was blood trickling down his face. He swung the car.

It bumped back into the road. A taxi shot across. Coolly and deliberately, it was driven into the car, ramming the front wheels. The taximan leapt out. The jeweller arrived on the scene. A policeman dashed up. Three men ran to help him.

In a few minutes the raiders had been overpowered, and the tray of rings returned to the jeweller.

He wiped his brow. Then he suddenly remembered something. "By the way, where's that kid?"

He deserves something for this. Puckey little devil. Smart, too. Where is he?

"Where is he?" echoed the crowd.

But that kid had disappeared. Already he was nearly a quarter of a mile away, and running like the wind. For he had seen a clock which had reminded him that unless he was home in ten minutes, he would get the biggest hiding he had ever had.

FLOOD HAVOC IN AMERICA

With a recruited army of workers filling sandbags to prevent the flooding of Washington, D.C., by the rising Potomac, this photograph, snapped up the valley, shows what residents of the nation's capital feared last month. It is an air view of Williamport, Md., showing a washed-out bridge, a "mired" factory and much of the countryside under water as the flood's crest swept toward the capital.

This view shows Pittsburgh at the confluence of the Allegheny and Monongahela River, where the business section is located. The flood water was 18 feet deep in the streets as fires blazed in other sections of the flooded area last month. The forecast of the flood stage was 45 feet, which was 7 feet higher than the previous record, made in 1907.

(Left) Armed with a rifle this Johnstown, Pasadena, resident, acting as deputy, stood guard over the remains of a flood-wrecked business building to prevent possible looting. Combined U.S. and Red Cross forces joined to fight that other dreaded aftermath of flood, pestilence. (Right) Harry Beury of Easton, Pasadena, is shown as he brought his dog safely from the flooded basement of his home when the Delaware River threatened to engulf the town last month.

Lowell, Massachusetts, citizens watch the slender sandbag barricade, hastily erected to keep the waters of the Merrimac River from flooding their homes last month. All New England States reported tremendous property damage.
